QUINTO POSTO PER ALBERTO BONA CON IL CLASS40 IBSA ALLA TRANSAT CIC

QUINTO POSTO PER ALBERTO BONA CON IL CLASS40 IBSA ALLA TRANSAT CIC

IL PROGETTO "SAILING INTO THE FUTURE, TOGETHER" ARRIVA NEGLI STATI UNITI

- Arrivo in porto nell'alba magica di New York e passaggio iconico davanti alla Statua della Libertà

- Tanta soddisfazione per aver portato il Class40 IBSA dall'altra parte del mondo

New York, 14 maggio 2024 - Alle 18:05:37 ora italiana (le 12:05:37 a New York) di venerdì 10 maggio 2024, dopo 12 giorni, 4 ore 35 minuti e 37 secondi di navigazione, Alberto Bona a bordo del Class40 IBSA ha tagliato in quinta posizione la linea di traguardo della Transat CIC, posta a 130 miglia dalla costa, chiudendo così l'impegnativa regata transatlantica partita da Lorient lo scorso 28 aprile. Con l'arrivo del Class40 IBSA a New York il progetto Sailing into the Future, Together sbarca negli Stati Uniti, coinvolgendo direttamente anche IBSA USA, la filiale americana della multinazionale farmaceutica.

Il vero premio dopo il taglio del traguardo è stato l'ingresso nella Upper Bay di New York, avvenuto l'11 maggio; un'alba perfetta ha accolto Alberto Bona per il suo passaggio sotto il ponte di Verrazzano, dove lo shore team e il team IBSA lo attendevano, per passare poi davanti alla Statua della Libertà, attraversando uno dei waterfront più belli del mondo lungo lo skyline di New York.

"È stata una regata molto impegnativa" - ha commentato Alberto Bona - "una vera e propria impresa: in alcuni momenti ho navigato in condizioni in cui non mi era mai capitato prima. Ho dovuto reagire a tante difficoltà legate a una serie di piccole avarie, che mi hanno messo a dura prova. Sono orgoglioso di questo risultato, tagliare la linea del traguardo della Transat CIC per me vale tantissimo. Abbiamo trovato delle condizioni difficili, navigato per tanti giorni con vento di poppa molto forte, sul sottile filo tra spingersi al limite della velocità e le andature di sopravvivenza. Ho imparato molto. La seconda depressione, per noi che navigavamo un po' più indietro, è stata molto forte, c'era veramente tanto mare: uno spettacolo bellissimo".

Proprio le condizioni meteo hanno messo a dura prova l'imbarcazione, che ha subito una serie di danni alle vele e a uno dei timoni, che lo skipper ha gestito direttamente in mare. A rallentare le prestazioni del Class40 IBSA un danno allo scafo, che lo ha obbligato a una andatura meno veloce in alcune fasi della regata. Un problema di delaminazione, ovvero di "indebolimento" di una piccola porzione di scafo dovuta al cedimento delle fibre con cui la barca è costruita, che ora richiederà una serie di lavori di ripristino.

"Quando abbiamo inaugurato la terza stagione del progetto Sailing into the Future, Together" - ha dichiarato Giorgio Pisani, Vice President IBSA Group e Project Leader - "avevamo sottolineato come una delle parole chiave sarebbe stata "coraggio". E così è stato! Alberto Bona ha dovuto superare molte difficoltà, trovare la forza interiore per essere sempre concentrato, far fronte alle avarie in condizioni meteo estreme. Dalle imprese di Alberto possiamo trarre profonda ispirazione per il nostro lavoro: saper rispondere con efficacia alle difficoltà, senza mollare mai".

La bandiera americana annodata allo strallo e sullo sfondo i grattacieli di Manhattan: l'arrivo in porto è risultato indimenticabile per Alberto Bona, che per la prima volta ha partecipato a una regata transoceanica su una rotta così a Nord.

Lo skipper - che il 9 maggio, ancora in regata, aveva compiuto 39 anni - è stato festeggiato dai collaboratori di IBSA USA, che successivamente hanno visitato il Class40 IBSA. Domenica, sulla nave Wavetree ormeggiata di fronte al South Street Seaport Museum di New York, a pochi passi dal Brooklyn Bridge, si è tenuta la cerimonia di premiazione della regata. Dopo una sessione di lavori allo scafo, il Class40 IBSA si sposterà in Canada, per partecipare alla Québec Saint-Malo in partenza il 30 giugno da Québec City.

IL PROGETTO: Il progetto triennale Sailing into the Future, Together è stato lanciato a gennaio 2022. La partnership tra IBSA e lo skipper Alberto Bona è nata su basi e valori comuni e ha l'obiettivo di utilizzare la vela come veicolo di comunicazione aziendale verso il mercato e il mondo della nautica. Ingegno, coraggio, innovazione, responsabilità sono elementi che accomunano IBSA e Alberto Bona: la sfida oceanica, insieme alla gara sportiva, rappresenta metaforicamente anche la storia, la filosofia e la visione di IBSA, costantemente rivolta al futuro e parte di un percorso che avvicina sempre di più l'azienda al tema della sostenibilità ambientale e sociale, con una particolare attenzione a progetti di vela inclusiva per persone con disabilità. A novembre 2022 la Route du Rhum è stata la prima tappa sportiva del progetto Sailing into the Future, Together. Nel 2023 Alberto Bona con il Class40 IBSA ha disputato sei regate, tra cui la Rolex Fastnet Race e la Transat Jacques Vabre. Con due vittorie e tre podi, il record per il maggior numero di miglia in 24 ore e oltre 15.000 miglia navigate, Alberto Bona si è aggiudicato il primo posto assoluto nel Campionato Internazionale Class40. Nel 2024 affronterà, tra aprile e luglio, due transatlantiche tra le più dure del panorama internazionale: la Transat CIC da Lorient (Francia) a New York e la Québec Saint-Malo (dal Canada alla Francia).

LO SKIPPER: Alberto Bona, torinese, laureato in filosofia. Da studente universitario conquista il trofeo Panerai con Stormvogel, veloce ULDB e barca storica con la quale attraversa per la prima volta l'Oceano Atlantico, vincendo la ARC con un equipaggio neozelandese. Nel 2012 partecipa alla Minitransat arrivando 5°, uno dei migliori risultati italiani di sempre in questa categoria. Nel 2015 passa nella categoria prototipi Mini 6.50 con Promostudi La Spezia; vince il campionato italiano e arriva secondo in Oceano nella traversata Les Sables - Azzorre. Nel 2017 arriva al Class40; sull'ex Telecom Italia di Giovanni Soldini partecipa alla Transat Jacques Vabre, dove è costretto al ritiro quando è al sesto posto. Nel 2019 è a bordo del trimarano Maserati Multi 70, una delle barche più veloci al mondo, dove fa pratica sui foils prima di passare al Figaro Beneteau 3, con cui partecipa alla Solitaire; unico italiano iscritto, termina 7° tra gli esordienti il primo anno e 16° assoluto nel 2020. Nel 2021 conquista il titolo italiano offshore in team e vince gli europei in doppio misto a bordo del Figaro 3. Nel 2022 inizia il nuovo progetto in partnership con IBSA: dopo l'ottavo posto alla Route du Rhum 2022, nel 2023 Alberto Bona vince il Campionato Internazionale Class40 chiudendo una stagione con tre podi e oltre 15.000 miglia percorse.

LA BARCA: Disegnata dall'architetto navale francese Sam Manuard e realizzata dal cantiere JPS Production, la barca di Alberto Bona è un Class40 modello Mach 5. Le caratteristiche: prua a scow - arrotondata e dalla forma più larga e piatta rispetto alle prue standard - progettata per rimanere alta sull'acqua evitando di sprofondarvi, carena allround particolarmente performante in condizioni di forte vento di poppa, pozzetto ampio e protetto per affrontare la navigazione in condizioni estreme in posizioni il più possibile comode e sicure.

IBSA: IBSA (Institut Biochimique SA) è una multinazionale farmaceutica svizzera fondata nel 1945 a Lugano. Oggi è presente con i suoi prodotti in oltre 90 Paesi in 5 continenti e ha 18 filiali dislocate in Europa, Cina e Stati Uniti. L'azienda ha un fatturato consolidato di 900 milioni di franchi e impiega oltre 2.200 persone fra sede centrale, filiali e siti produttivi. IBSA detiene 90 famiglie di brevetti approvati e altri in fase di sviluppo e un vasto portfolio di prodotti che permette di coprire 10 aree terapeutiche: medicina della riproduzione, endocrinologia, dolore e infiammazione, osteoarticolare, medicina estetica, dermatologia, uro-ginecologia, cardiometabolica, respiratoria, consumer health. È inoltre uno dei maggiori operatori a livello mondiale nella medicina della riproduzione e uno dei leader mondiali nei prodotti a base di acido ialuronico. I pilastri su cui IBSA fonda la sua filosofia sono: Persona, Innovazione, Qualità e Responsabilità.

La CIC Transat - regata transatlantica in solitario da Lorient a New York - sta per tornare dopo sei anni di assenza. Il 28 aprile 2024, 13 Class40 attraverseranno il Nord Atlantico con lo stesso obiettivo: dare il massimo. Anche se alcuni sono favoriti, la competizione sarà dura. Ecco la formazione.

Torna The Transat. Tre italiani in gara

23-04-2024

Sarà esploso il 28 aprile il colpo di cannone della XVI transatlantica in solitario dalla Francia agli Usa. In gara Pedote, Bona e Beccaria

Torna dopo otto lunghi anni di attesa The Transat CIC transatlantica in solitario, erede della Ostar o, come la chiamano i francesi, la "Transat anglaise".

Con partenza da Lorient (Francia) e traguardo a New York (Usa), la più antica regata in solitario a cadenza quadriennale prende il via domenica 28 aprile.

Una sfida di 3.500 miglia attraverso l'Atlantico settentrionale dove dominano sistemi depressionari e venti contrari che ha visto trionfare i più celebri protagonisti della vela oceanica. Tra questi Francis Chichester, Alain Colas, Yvon Fauconnier, Philippe Poupon, Loïck Peyron, Francis Joyon, Michel Desjoyeaux, Francois Gabart ed Éric Tabarly (di cui quest'anno sarà celebrato il 60° anniversario dalla vittoria a bordo del Pen Duick 2).

Cambiano gli sponsor, cambiano le classi delle barche ammesse, cambiano le città d'arrivo e di partenza, ma la Transat CIC resta una delle regate più leggendarie e dure del panorama delle corse alturiere. Ideata dall'inglese Francis Chichester, che vinse la prima edizione nel 1960, si è svolta ogni quattro anni fino al 2008, per poi riprendere nel 2016.

Il 28 aprile partirà da Lorient la Transat CIC. Una nuova regata? Tutt'altro: è l'evoluzione della mitica Ostar. Conosciuta originariamente come The English Transat, o anche OSTAR, poi diventata 1 Star e oggi semplicemente nota come The Transat, la Transat CIC ha una storia leggendaria e un albo d'oro costellato di miti della vela. Con un percorso di 3.500 miglia (quest'anno) da Lorient a New York in solitario è una delle sfide più impegnative dell'Oceano Atlantico settentrionale, una traversata tanto famosa quanto dura per condizioni di vento, mare e correnti.

The Transat CIC: a spectacular start!

Di Redazione - 29 Aprile 2024

Brittany turned on its best Spring sailing weather – sunshine, puffy cumulus clouds and a decent 10-15kts of Westerly wind – to send the 48 strong Transat CIC fleet on its way from Lorient towards New York for the start of the legendary solo race across the North Atlantic.

Un avvio corale della Transat CIC, con Imoca e Class 40 sulla stessa linea in una splendida giornata di sole. I Class40 hanno occupato la parte sottovento della linea di partenza, posta all'altezza di Lomener, nel canale tra la costa e l'isola di Groix. Di bolina larga, sottovento ai grandi IMOCA, hanno percorso in circa un'ora e mezza il tratto con rotta Sud, disegnato dall'organizzazione per rendere ancora più interessante lo start della transoceanica in solitario.

After passing through an earlier front yesterday with winds in excess of 30 knots and heavy seas, the fleet, which has left the south coast of Ireland behind and is now sailing on the open ocean, is gearing up for the second complex weather situation. Although the leaders are still over 2,300 miles away from the finish line in New York, the next few hours will be crucial.

Transat CIC, Dalin and Richomme, Delahaye and Lipinski: double duels at the top

Di Redazione - 2 Maggio 2024

On The Transat CIC solo race across the North Atlantic from Lorient to New York, there are close duels at the top of both the IMOCA and Class40s. Racing at just over six miles apart Charlie Dalin (MACIF Santé et Prévoyance) and Yoann Richomme (Paprec Arkéa) continue to lead the Transat CIC as the IMOCA peloton emerge from the strong North Atlantic winds and big seas and this afternoon were starting to get across the wide ridge of light winds ahead. Similarly in Class 40 Fabien Delahaye (Legallais Team Voile) and Ian Lipinski (Crédit Mutuel) are only separated by a little over four miles, on this fourth day of racing since leaving Lorient with Nicolas d'Estais (Café Joyeux) and Ambrogio Beccaria (Alla Grande Pirelli) trying to catch up on them.

Oceano Atlantico – Tra il dire e il fare c'è di mezzo l'Oceano Atlantico e una serie di spaventose perturbazioni, che hanno ridotto a otto i Class40 rimasti in gara alla Transat CIC, dei tredici che avevano tagliato la linea di partenza. Il quinto giorno di regata (venerdì 3 maggio), è risultato come da previsioni difficilissimo. Alberto Bona e il Class40 IBSA navigano in quinta posizione, a 108 miglia (rilevamento delle 16:00) da Ian Lipinski che guida la piccola flotta in una depressione davvero consistente. All'alba Alberto Bona aveva leggermente ridotto lo svantaggio, accumulato tra mercoledì e giovedì.

Transat CIC: Beccaria all'attacco, Allagrande Pirelli si prende la testa della regata

Dura, durissima questa Transat CIC (ex Ostar), che si sta rivelando come da previsioni una regata complicata per le condizioni meteo che si incontrano e per lo stress che queste impongono a skipper e barche. Siamo ormai alla terza o quarta depressione di fila, quasi senza soluzione di continuità, che la flotta di Imoca 60 e Class 40 stanno affrontando sul percorso da Lorient a New York, ma la notizia oggi per la vela italiana è il ritorno in testa di Ambrogio Beccaria su Allagrande Pirelli tra i 40'.

Lo skipper di Alla Grande - Pirelli inanella l'ennesimo successo dell'anno vincendo la transatlantica in solitario da Lorient a New York

Alla fine ce l'ha fatta. Il 10 maggio alle ore 05:47 (ora italiana) Ambrogio Beccaria ha vinto il duello con Ian Lipinski tagliando, primo in Class 40, la linea d'arrivo della Transat CIC, transatlantica in solitario dalla Francia agli Usa.

Lo skipper milanese ha superato il traguardo di New York dopo 11 giorni, 16 ore, 17 minuti e 55 secondi di navigazione. Una prova impeccabile per Beccaria che, in testa alla flotta dal 5 maggio, ha saputo tenere le redini della gara malgrado il match a vista con Lipinski e alcune avarie riscontrate a bordodi Alla Grande - Pirelli tra cui un Code Zero strappato e la rottura, per ben due volte, del sistema di abbassamento del timone.

Promoting innovation, sustainability and inclusion on the high seas

(BPT) - Defying the oceans on a 12 meter sailboat — while reaching speeds of 17 knots — to cross the finish line first, showing resilience, courage and great strategic skills: this is Sailing into the Future. Together, the challenge launched by IBSA, the Swiss multinational pharmaceutical company, which chose sailing to tell a great story of sport and sustainability.

In March 2022, IBSA launched an ambitious project: providing talented Italian sailor Alberto Bona with all the tools to promote sharing and inclusion through the thrilling sport of sailing.

After over two years and seven regattas, the Class40 IBSA arrives in the United States to finish the Transat CIC — one of the most difficult crossings of the Atlantic Ocean. Starting on April 28 from Lorient, one of the most famous French ports in ocean sailing, the regatta includes 48 solo sailors navigating to New York, along a challenging and dangerous route, due to the presence of icebergs, fog, currents and very strong winds.

This year marks Alberto's third season aboard the Class40 IBSA. Bona was the winner of the Class40 International Championship, ranking as the first-place skipper based on his finishes in 2023. He is one of the two favorites among the 13 participants in the Class40 category and is ready to take on the challenge.

Earlier this year, the Class40 IBSA was completely overhauled in a French shipyard. The hull underwent several adjustments to prepare the boat to face the grueling North Atlantic crossing, a completely different experience from previous regattas which ended in the Caribbean, a destination much easier to reach and safer to navigate than the northwestern coast of the United States.

“It’s as if we had been preparing for this regatta for two whole years,” said Bona. “Each challenge has its own unique ingredients, but the Transat CIC contains them all: when sailing solo, I will face complex weather conditions; the boat will often have to navigate at risky and difficult speeds. I will have to manage my opponents, the icebergs, the fog and the currents; in short, the perfect regatta in terms of difficulty and exciting like no other. A regatta in which, as in all my endeavors, I will feel all the IBSA people at my side: indeed, they will follow me through the tracking system and encourage me with their messages.”

With this multi-year project, sailing becomes an effective means of reaching a wide audience with important messages about sustainability and inclusion. As part of Sailing into the Future. Together IBSA has undertaken an international project to support inclusive sailing — through the donation of several Hansa 303 boats suitable for people with disabilities — and established partnerships with Swiss, French, Italian and Spanish nautical clubs to support inclusive sailing initiatives, in order to involve people with physical and cognitive disabilities in experiences in close contact with the sea.

“We are proud that, after two years of success in Europe, the Sailing into the Future. Together is coming to the United States,” stated Nick Hart, CEO IBSA USA. “This project is a significant undertaking, which sees us competing in some of the world’s most prestigious and challenging regattas. It also provides an opportunity to highlight IBSA’s values and increase our global visibility as a company with an eye to the future and a commitment to sustainability.”

Educating people on respect for others and promoting a real inclusion of diversity by fighting prejudice and discrimination are the objectives that IBSA aims to achieve through the project Sailing into the Future. Together.

After over two years and seven regattas, the Class40 IBSA arrives in the United States to finish the Transat CIC — one of the most difficult crossings of the Atlantic Ocean. Starting on April 28 from Lorient, one of the most famous French ports in ocean sailing, the regatta includes 48 solo sailors navigating to New York, along a challenging and dangerous route, due to the presence of icebergs, fog, currents and very strong winds.

This year marks Alberto's third season aboard the Class40 IBSA. Bona was the winner of the Class40 International Championship, ranking as the first-place skipper based on his finishes in 2023. He is one of the two favorites among the 13 participants in the Class40 category and is ready to take on the challenge.

Earlier this year, the Class40 IBSA was completely overhauled in a French shipyard. The hull underwent several adjustments to prepare the boat to face the grueling North Atlantic crossing, a completely different experience from previous regattas which ended in the Caribbean, a destination much easier to reach and safer to navigate than the northwestern coast of the United States.

“It’s as if we had been preparing for this regatta for two whole years,” said Bona. “Each challenge has its own unique ingredients, but the Transat CIC contains them all: when sailing solo, I will face complex weather conditions; the boat will often have to navigate at risky and difficult speeds. I will have to manage my opponents, the icebergs, the fog and the currents; in short, the perfect regatta in terms of difficulty and exciting like no other. A regatta in which, as in all my endeavors, I will feel all the IBSA people at my side: indeed, they will follow me through the tracking system and encourage me with their messages.”

With this multi-year project, sailing becomes an effective means of reaching a wide audience with important messages about sustainability and inclusion. As part of Sailing into the Future. Together IBSA has undertaken an international project to support inclusive sailing — through the donation of several Hansa 303 boats suitable for people with disabilities — and established partnerships with Swiss, French, Italian and Spanish nautical clubs to support inclusive sailing initiatives, in order to involve people with physical and cognitive disabilities in experiences in close contact with the sea.

“We are proud that, after two years of success in Europe, the Sailing into the Future. Together is coming to the United States,” stated Nick Hart, CEO IBSA USA. “This project is a significant undertaking, which sees us competing in some of the world’s most prestigious and challenging regattas. It also provides an opportunity to highlight IBSA’s values and increase our global visibility as a company with an eye to the future and a commitment to sustainability.”

Educating people on respect for others and promoting a real inclusion of diversity by fighting prejudice and discrimination are the objectives that IBSA aims to achieve through the project Sailing into the Future. Together.

In March 2022, IBSA launched an ambitious project: providing talented Italian sailor Alberto Bona with all the tools to promote sharing and inclusion through the thrilling sport of sailing.

After over two years and seven regattas, the Class40 IBSA arrives in the United States to finish the Transat CIC — one of the most difficult crossings of the Atlantic Ocean. Starting on April 28 from Lorient, one of the most famous French ports in ocean sailing, the regatta includes 48 solo sailors navigating to New York, along a challenging and dangerous route, due to the presence of icebergs, fog, currents and very strong winds.

This year marks Alberto's third season aboard the Class40 IBSA. Bona was the winner of the Class40 International Championship, ranking as the first-place skipper based on his finishes in 2023. He is one of the two favorites among the 13 participants in the Class40 category and is ready to take on the challenge.

Earlier this year, the Class40 IBSA was completely overhauled in a French shipyard. The hull underwent several adjustments to prepare the boat to face the grueling North Atlantic crossing, a completely different experience from previous regattas which ended in the Caribbean, a destination much easier to reach and safer to navigate than the northwestern coast of the United States.

“It’s as if we had been preparing for this regatta for two whole years,” said Bona. “Each challenge has its own unique ingredients, but the Transat CIC contains them all: when sailing solo, I will face complex weather conditions; the boat will often have to navigate at risky and difficult speeds. I will have to manage my opponents, the icebergs, the fog and the currents; in short, the perfect regatta in terms of difficulty and exciting like no other. A regatta in which, as in all my endeavors, I will feel all the IBSA people at my side: indeed, they will follow me through the tracking system and encourage me with their messages.”

With this multi-year project, sailing becomes an effective means of reaching a wide audience with important messages about sustainability and inclusion. As part of Sailing into the Future. Together IBSA has undertaken an international project to support inclusive sailing — through the donation of several Hansa 303 boats suitable for people with disabilities — and established partnerships with Swiss, French, Italian and Spanish nautical clubs to support inclusive sailing initiatives, in order to involve people with physical and cognitive disabilities in experiences in close contact with the sea.

“We are proud that, after two years of success in Europe, the Sailing into the Future. Together is coming to the United States,” stated Nick Hart, CEO IBSA USA. “This project is a significant undertaking, which sees us competing in some of the world’s most prestigious and challenging regattas. It also provides an opportunity to highlight IBSA’s values and increase our global visibility as a company with an eye to the future and a commitment to sustainability.”

Educating people on respect for others and promoting a real inclusion of diversity by fighting prejudice and discrimination are the objectives that IBSA aims to achieve through the project Sailing into the Future. Together.

(BPT) - Defying the oceans on a 12 meter sailboat — while reaching speeds of 17 knots — to cross the finish line first, showing resilience, courage and great strategic skills: this is [Sailing into the Future.
